INTRODUCTION

The Atlona HD800 is a Portable HDMI signal generator capable of testing any video resolution or timing in any digital format. The HD800 allows users to diagnose specific resolution, video timing, EDID, and color space issues in any DVI or HDMI video system. The HD800 features 19 test patterns including 3D tests Side by side, Top and Bottom, and Frame packing, a format that is mandatory for all HDMI 1.4 devices. This powerful pocket sized signal generator features an HDMI output as well as an HDMI pass through to easily switch between test patterns and content from any other digital sources, while also giving the ability to read the EDID from the input source and displaying it on the display.

- 1. DC 5V: This input is for 5V power supply (if batteries are used, the power supply is not required)
- 2. Power Switch: Switch UP ON, Switch Down OFF Note: If user is running out of power on the batteries and wants to use power supply, the power cycle is required, so that the AT-HD800 will recognize power supply as a priority.
- 3. HDMI IN: This input is for connecting input source such as DVD, Computer, Cables Box or any other source for testing and pulling EDID file.
- 4. HDMI OUT: This connection is for connecting the generator to a display or devices before the display when testing the full system capabilities.

Note: If an image is not present press and hold the Info Pattern button for three seconds then release. This will reset the display to its native resolution.

5. For HDMI cable integrity test, insert both ends of the cable into the AT-HD800 Unit. See "Timing Select" button for more information.

7.2. Front Panel

1. INFO/PATTERN:

1.1. If the input of the AT-HD800 is connected with the source and output is connected with the display (or other gear before the display) and user wants to view capabilities of both source and display side by side the Info Pattern can be pressed.
